

AN APPARATUS AND METHOD FOR MACHINING IN CONFINED SPACES

Abstract

A machining apparatus comprising: a discharge machining head assembly; and an electromagnet configured to support the head assembly in a position to machine an area. A method for machining comprising: attaching a machining tool to a surface; positioning a drill electrode to a work piece; and drilling the work piece with the machining tool.